

School Update August 25, 2020

Parents,

It has been great seeing all of our students and families today!

I wanted to give you a brief update on reopening our campus to in-person learning. We found out today that our waiver was approved last Friday. Along with that great news, San Diego County is also off the statewide monitoring list, which means all TK-12 schools within San Diego County will be permitted to reopen for in-person instruction provided that the county's case rate remains below 100 per 100,000 persons for fourteen straight days. (Today is day 7 of this 14 day period. Therefore, in one week, all TK-12 schools are allowed to open for in-person instruction.)

This means ALL students K-8 will be able to return to campus on September 8th!

For now, As planned, Grace will continue with remote learning this week and next. However, next Friday, September 4th, we will not have 'live' instruction for the students so that the teachers can prepare their classrooms for the students' return to campus the following Tuesday.

All teachers will be live in Google Meet starting tomorrow, so make sure your child joins in. Please check your student's Google Classroom for grade level schedules.

As always, let me know if you have any questions!

In Him,
Ben Elliott
